Online self-assessment tools for students: NRCLC is developing online self-assessment tools and learning modules for measuring the student's achievement so that teachers and parents can identify their strengths and weaknesses. "The modules are being designed to provide a focused learning environment that will help students to overcome their weaknesses," said Vazi Okhandiar, VP (Technology), mLogica Inc, in a presentation on E-learning, on Friday, at International Conference on Educational Research at Pala, Kerala.
